

THIS BRIDE SURE HAD HARD LINES

Hours After Marriage Her Husband Is Arrested For Theft and the Goods Found In His Trunk

St. Louis, Mo., May 31.—Miss Annie Greenberg, eighteen years old, of No. 1414 Biddle street, after an engagement of two hours, was married a few mornings ago to Joseph Bernhart, whom she had known three years. Six hours later Bernhart was arrested on suspicion of having committed a series of burglaries. The couple had expected to go to Chicago on a midnight train. Bernhart spent his wedding night in a cell at police headquarters.

The bride attended that evening the wedding of Miss Bessie Weiss, a girl friend. "I hope you'll be happier in your honeymoon than I am in mine," said Mrs. Bernhart to the bride.

"My marriage has brought me bad luck," remarked Bernhart in his cell.

Mrs. Bernhart said there had been no engagement between her and Bernhart. He asked me to marry him about nine o'clock in the morning, she said, and they were married two hours later by Justice of the Peace Moore. Bernhart then left his wife at her home, where she remains.

Bernhart, who is a house painter, is twenty-three years old. He lived in Cass avenue until half an hour before his arrest, when he ordered his trunk transferred to another house.

Detectives caught Bernhart as he was directing the removal of his trunk from the express wagon. In the trunk were found several articles which Mrs. Cecelia Cutler, of No. 1503 North Eleventh street, identified as having been stolen from her. The police suspect Bernhart and an accomplice, whom they are seeking, of having committed a series of burglaries in North St. Louis extending over a considerable period.

The detectives learned that Bernhart went to a pawnshop and tried to redeem a watch which he had pawned in his own name. Mrs. Sophie Mandelack, of 1223 North Tenth street, from whose home the watch was stolen March 4, had discovered the watch and recovered it.

Bernhart had a loaded revolver in his trunk. He carried two stars such as night watchmen wear. One was inscribed "Sparberg's Dancing Academy" and the other "Yale's Electric Exhibit Company's Gallery." The detectives think Bernhart used these badges to aid him in explaining why he was out late at night in case a policeman questioned him.

Bernhart and Miss Greenberg were married by Justice of the Peace Moore. Mrs. Bernhart said after his arrest that she had no suspicion that her intended husband was a burglar.

"The only thing he ever gave me," she said, "was a bracelet, about three months ago, and he took that away from me."

Bernhart denies all charges. He says the articles found in his trunk and those pawned by him were left in his room by another man.

Bernhart's bride requested Detective Murphy to go to Justice Moore's office and have her marriage "wiped off the books."

She was informed that she would have to employ a lawyer.

"All right," she said, "I'll get to work and earn the money to pay him. I want the marriage wiped off."

SOVEREIGNS' SUMMER SAUNTERINGS

The Kaiser Is Coming to See Edward and the Little Mother of Holland Wants to Come Shopping

I hear that during the last few days definite intimation has been received at court to the effect that the emperor of Germany proposes to pay another visit to England this coming autumn and that he will remain several weeks. The emperor is to stop with the king and queen at Windsor, where a round of entertainments will be organized in his honor, and will subsequently accompany their majesties to Sandringham for the shooting. It is expected the empress and her daughter will accompany the kaiser. He would have liked to have had a meeting with King Edward in the Mediterranean, but unfortunately the king's engagements at home were so heavy that he found it impossible to prolong his yachting cruise for this meeting to take place.

While the kaiser is over here several topics of vital importance will be discussed between the monarchs, and for that reason both Mr. Asquith and Sir Edward Grey will be included in a large house party which will be invited to Windsor to meet the emperor and empress.

On the other hand, England is likely to be disappointed in seeing Queen Wilhelmina this year. This visit had been expected and had been looked forward to with keen interest, but I learn from a personal friend of Queen Wilhelmina that the indications point to a further postponement of the visit.

The young queen, however, has set her heart on doing some shopping in Bond street and other thoroughfares and to enjoy the delights of looking at her leisure at the bonnets and blouses without suddenly finding a crowd around her. She hopes to be able to do this in London, though my informant doubts whether her anticipations will be fulfilled. It is true that London is not The Hague, where everybody is familiar with her majesty's features, but whether she will enjoy the desired incognito remains to be seen. I am also informed that all the evil rumors about the marital relations of the Dutch royal couple are false.

"You have only to see them together," said my friend, "to watch them when they look at each other, to realize that those tales are lies. The prince is even ridiculously fond of the queen."

HORSES GO THROUGH TUNNEL.

New York, May 31.—A team of horses attached to a wagon of the American News company dashed from Chambers street yesterday morning into Lafayette street, then north to Fourth avenue and through the tunnel at Thirty-fourth street into the annex of the Grand Central station, where they bumped against a stand and stopped. The only damage was a broken pole of the wagon.

When George Phillips, their driver, left the horses unhitched in front of No. 39 Chambers street they became frightened and dashed into Lafayette street, with the heavy wagon swerving from side to side.

As the team reached Fourth avenue they escaped policemen and pedestrians who tried to stop them and at Thirty-fourth street dashed into the tunnel. Through the tunnel the animals went, and at the Forty-second street exit they ran into the annex of the Grand Central station.

HIS INSTRUMENT.

Hearler—"Pushbeau is a wonderful violinist. He can make his instrument talk."

Horne—"Talk? I can make my instrument ofate."

Hearler—"What is your instrument?"

Horne—"A phonograph."

MARRIED TEN TIMES.

Mrs. Polly Weed Baker, sixty-seven years old, of Newburg, Ind., and Simon Shippert, seven years her junior, of Burlington, Iowa, have been married. This is the tenth marriage for the bride, but gives her only a ninth husband, for she was married the second time to one of her husbands after obtaining a divorce from him.

The woman asserts that if her new husband should die she would probably marry again, in case she could get any one to have her.
